

Nat. Guard Closing Training Period

SMALL CROWD AT ANNUAL REVIEW. GOV. ABSENT.

Michigan National Guard will close its training period this week and Saturday will see the several regiments and units enroute for their home stations. Ideal weather has favored the intensive training period and much has been accomplished.

Last Saturday was Governor's review day when every contingent of the Guard passed in review before the reviewing officers. Gov. Murphy, commander in chief of Michigan's guard and military defenses, failed to make his appearance and take part in the review that is usually exercised by the chief executive of the state.

The weather was cool and somewhat overcast and there was a slight threat to break the camp record of "never a rainy review day." However there was nothing to disturb the program unless it may have been because of the small attendance to this usually well attended event.

The reviewing officers, instead of being mounted as is the prevalent custom, they reviewed the guard from autos. Standing beside Gen. Heinrich Pickert, commander of the camp, was Maj. Gen. Albert Blanding, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, Washington, D. C. Members of the General's staff were stationed near by.

The roaring of propellers above marked the opening of the program as Michigan's air squadron, under command of Col. Floyd Evans, passed several times in view of the reviewing officers and visitors. It seemed to the writer, from the viewpoint of a civilian, that the Guard never before made such a fine appearance and displayed such high standard as was manifest that day. Gen. Pickert must have been proud of his organization, and so would the Governor have been had he been present.

Spectacular as the review always is, it was given an extra punch when the cavalry regiment, under command of Col. Harold Webber, made its appearance. Expert horsemen mounted upon sleek-looking horses, with white bridles and white-bound ankles, were an inspiring picture. They first passed in review in a walk, and again in a trot; the third time in a canter and the fourth time on a dead run. Only expert horsemen could put on such a grand exhibit.

It is estimated that there was a crowd of about 10,000 in attendance, as against a usual attendance of about 15,000. No mishaps were reported and the crowd and autos were handled quickly and pleasantly.

In the evening there was the usual reception. Gov. Murphy wired that he would be there late, however he was further detained and unable to get to the camp at all. The officers' ball that was to be a part of the program of the Governor's reception, was held as usual and was a very pleasant affair.

Today the officers and men of the guard are out on bivouac. Artillery target practice too is in full operation. The work of the training period will come to a close in time for all contingents to be out of the camp by Saturday night, except for the rear detachment whose duty it will be to see that the big camp is left in good order.

Young Men Wanted In CCC Camps

Broadened provisions covering the enrollment in the CCC as set up in the new law passed by Congress establishing CCC for a three year period was recalled to the public attention today by Mrs. Laura Olson, Crawford county Welfare Administrator who is in charge of the selection of applicants for enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

According to the instructions of the U. S. Department of Labor, enrollment in the CCC is no longer the exclusive privilege of those young men whose families are on the public relief rolls Mrs. Olson declared.

"The opportunity to secure a constructive education which includes academic subjects and vocational training as well, and to participate in the vast conservation accomplishments of the CCC which have merited widespread public acclaim, is now open to young men between the ages of 17 and 23 years and otherwise eligible who are out of work and in need of work. The CCC today is primarily a training school and work agency, rather than a social welfare unit as it was previously," she continued.

Crawford County has not yet filled its quota of 7 enrollees. The enrolling period ends July 31. CCC enrollees receive educational training both from camp educational advisors and from foremen and technical supervisors of the work agency.

MAKE GRAYLING FREE OF RAGWEED

At the annual meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in October, 1936, a resolution was passed regarding the elimination of ragweed in our state. Mrs. M. R. Keyworth, president of the Federation, is now calling attention to that fact as July and August being hot weather months, are the best time for making the campaign against this noxious weed that is so offensive to hayfever sufferers.

Ignorance of what the plant looks like is responsible in large part for its prevalence. A great many people don't recognize ragweed when they see it. One woman, who is active in campaigning against it, describes it as a lacy foliage on the same design as maidenhair fern, but with heavier leaves. Late in life it puts out a spike, at the top which turns yellow as it blossoms into tiny flowerettes, the same flowerettes which produce the pollen and cause a good part of the August and September sneezing.

Reports show that in Traverse City the women have cooperated with the Chamber of Commerce to make the slogan "No Ragweed within our borders" a fact rather than a hope. Similar campaigns are being carried on in Harbor Springs, Petoskey and Mackinaw and other resort towns where the value of a haven for hay fever victims is fully understood.

From time to time the Avalanche has had articles on ragweed and urged Grayling citizens to help city officials in the eradication of this very harmful weed. It really isn't hard to control if every home owner, together with the street commission, recognize the weed in its early growth and pull it up. Let's go on record as a city free from ragweed.

For best reports and comment on the Tigers, you can't beat H. G. Salsinger's column "The Umpire." Read it daily in The Detroit News.

Love, Honor and Obey

Lansing—Michigan, the air-conditioned summer resort state of America, goes on parade this week.

The occasion is the visit of approximately 350 newspaper editors from all parts of the United States—New England, East, South, Middle-West, and the great West—for the annual convention and tour of the National Editorial Association. What these editors say about Michigan will be read by more than 1,000,000 persons—a vast audience.

Michigan newspapers have a personal interest in the party, as 272 of them—members of the 62-year-old Michigan Press association—are the official host. Today (July 22) the editors leave Detroit by a special air-conditioned train for Grand Rapids. Grand Rapids' two dailies—Press and Herald—and nearby weekly newspapers will show the visitors why the city is known as the furniture capital of the world.

At Muskegon the publishers are to be met by a caravan of automobiles, provided by proud citizens, who will take them on a sightseeing tour. A dinner at the Elks' temple will be an exposition prelude with a newspaper editor, Archie McCrae of the Muskegon Chronicle, serving as master of ceremonies.

Lumberjack Festival

Once the lumber capital of the Great Lakes, Muskegon is today an enterprising industrial and resort center, taking full advantage of its strategic location with the aid of an up-and-coming chamber of commerce.

Along the harbor front Muskegon has created a miniature world's fair—an exposition devoted to a portrayal of the city's 100 years of history. On the very site of the exposition once stood a bustling lumbermill, roaring out lumber by the millions of feet for boats to rush to Chicago in its reconstruction days after the great fire.

The part that the lumberjack played in the early days of Michigan is being commemorated by this Muskegon fair.

Next Sunday (July 25) a concert will be given by the National High School band of Interlochen under the personal direction of Percy Grainger, composer. This event will take place at Hackley Field, high school stadium, accommodating 30,000 spectators.

Leelanau Peninsula

Taking a midnight pullman train, the editors travel on Friday to Traverse City where they will be met again by a courtesy caravan of automobiles and taken to lake resorts in the scenic Leelanau peninsula for breakfast.

In this little finger of land, jutting out between Grand Traverse bay and Lake Michigan, is situated the famed Glen lake of National Geographic fame since it was once called one of the most beautiful lakes in the entire world.

At Leelanau, which is an Indian word for "delight of life," you will find the Sleeping Bear dune, largest of its kind in Michigan. This dune is a five-mile ridge of sand more than 300 feet high near D. H. Day State park

Fr. Schulte Was Kiwanis Speaker

CLUB OPPOSED CHANGE IN NAME OF RESERVATION.

Another delightful program was presented at the Kiwanis club luncheon Wednesday. Rev. Fr. Schulte of St. Elizabeth church, Detroit, was the speaker. Fr. Schulte is assistant chaplain of the 32nd division National guard, comprising the states of Michigan and Wisconsin.

A number of visitors were present. Among them were Chaplain Pullinger of the 125th infantry, Detroit, and a member of Chapter No. 1 of Detroit Kiwanis; Glenn Morrill and Floyd Surbrook of River Rouge, summer residents at Higgins Lake; Dr. G. B. Stanford, Midland; Norman Fry of the E. M. T., Bay City; and Emmett M. Platt, manager of the Tri-County Telephone Co., Alpena.

T. P. Peterson of the local club called attention to the change in the name of the Hanson State Military reservation to the Crawford County Game Refuge, according to the signboards posted at the reservation. He protested to the change in the name inasmuch as this land was a gift to the state by our late citizen Rasmus Hanson, believing that the original name should be preserved and continued. A motion was unanimously passed in accord with the suggestion of Mr. Peterson and the following committee appointed to draw up suitable resolutions for presentation to the Military department: T. P. Peterson, Charles E. Moore and A. J. Joseph.

Fr. Schulte remarked upon the fine spirit of friendliness between the people of Grayling and the officers and men of the National Guard. He related about the instance of the soldier whose grave is in the National Guard cemetery near the Winter Sports park. This young man was from Detroit and was injured in camp by being kicked by a horse and later died when he contracted pneumonia. He had no relatives anywhere in Michigan but a stepfather in Oregon who gave permission for his burial in Grayling.

Col. LeRoy Pearson and others selected the place at the brow of the hill in that beautiful spot for a National Guard cemetery. Old Glory floats day and night, every day in the year, over the grave of this former National Guardsman. Capt. Philip Pack of Ann Arbor wrote a beautiful poem in regard to this lone occupant of that burying place, which Father Schulte very nicely recited.

Chaplain Pullinger supplemented the address by a few appropriate and interesting remarks.

MRS. MARGARET BURTON PASSED AWAY
Friends of Mrs. Margaret A. Burton, widow of the late Joseph C. Burton, will be grieved to learn of that lady's passing on July 8, at the home of her daughter Mrs. Harry E. Simpson at Monroe, Mich. Mrs. Burton had been ill for several months. Funeral services were held at the home of a sister Mrs. George Adams in Coldwater, with interment at Mrs. Burton's birthplace, Bronson, Mich.

Margaret Straehly was born in Bronson on June 22, 1884 to Mr. and Mrs. David Straehly. Her girlhood was spent in that place and on December 16, 1885 she was united in marriage to Joseph C. Burton. The couple came to Grayling in 1887 where their daughter Irene, was born. Mrs. Burton passed away in 1922 and in 1927 Mrs. Burton moved to Coldwater, where she resided for three years, going from there to Monroe to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Harry E. Simpson.

Mrs. Burton was one of Grayling's estimable residents for a long number of years and although this had not been her permanent home since 1927 she came back each summer and either spent the time at her Lake Margrethe cottage or with her brother Clayton Straehly and family. Mrs. Burton was an active member of Grayling Chapter Eastern Star, transferring to the Coldwater chapter in 1928. She leaves hosts of friends who join in extending sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

APPRECIATES ROAD TREATMENT

Grayling, Michigan
July 20, 1937

Mr. O. P. Schumann, Editor
Crawford County Avalanche
Grayling, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Schumann:
I would like to bring before the residents of the City of Grayling the wonderful cooperation and consideration received from the City Council in treating the County Road past the State Fish Hatchery with an oil treatment.

We are indeed grateful for this consideration as in the past we have lived in a continuous cloud of dust all day and night and it has been impossible to keep anything clean around our buildings. But, the most important thing about this dust layer, it gave our daily visitors a chance to see the fish and enjoy their visit without being smothered with dust. It would surprise you the favorable comment from various visitors whom have braved the dust storm before to find their visit much more favorable since they could enjoy the fresh air without having to run for their cars to get away from the cloud of dust moving over the grounds from passing cars.

We are indeed fortunate in having an able City engineer and group of men at the head of our City Government to manage our municipal affairs to the interest of its residents and its visiting guests.

Very truly yours,
H. L. Peterson, Dist. Supt.
Fisheries Operations,
Grayling, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Hoffmaster:
Last Wednesday it was my pleasure to inspect the many fine improvements at the Grayling Fish Hatchery.

I want to congratulate you and the others having these improvements in charge.

The Superintendent at Grayling seems to be one of those enthusiasts who is anxious to have everything 100% efficient as well as being particularly attractive.

With kindest personal regards,
I remain
Yours respectfully,

Great Plans For Canoe Carnival

TWO DAYS—AUGUST 7 AND 8. PROGRAM NEARS COMPLETION.

"It will be the greatest festival ever held in Northern Michigan." That's what Izaak Walton League members predict of their Grayling Canoe Carnival which is to be revived August 7-8 after a year's lapse.

With committees already functioning, it appears that within a week arrangements will be nearly completed for the colorful affair. Ernest Borchers heads the committee in charge and is assisted by Jack Redhead, Chris Hoesli, Clare Madsen and Harley Russell.

Within a few days, a "Queen of the AuSable" will be selected by the committee in charge to reign over the carnival. Lack of time will prevent a public contest. Thus committee members feel it will be wiser to handle the selection themselves.

Featuring the carnival will be 25-mile trips down the AuSable River, Saturday and Sunday. About 100 canoes and river boats, manned by experienced guides, will take the visitors down the river. Noon luncheon will be served at Burton's Landing, midway point of the trip. A program of entertaining water events will take place during the stop.

Among the features of a downtown program arranged for those who do not wish to make the canoe trip, is a fly-casting contest. Many of the best-known guides and anglers on the AuSable are expected to compete, giving the public an opportunity to see in action some of the finest fly-casters in the middle west. Valuable prizes are being given in this fly-casting contest.

Saturday evening will see a program of water events presented under flood lights. This program will feature canoe tilting, greased-pole walking and canoe races. Other features are being planned for this program.

Concluding the Saturday program will be a "Queen's Ball" that is expected to attract several hundred persons. Sunday will feature another trip down the river, with the same entertainment at Burton's Landing.

Committee members feel that the Grayling carnival is far superior to all other northern festivals because the canoe trip is so outstanding it will leave a favorable impression upon anyone who takes it. It is known as one of the most unusual scenic trips in America and anyone who makes it is certain to want to return to Grayling again.

All that's needed to assure the carnival's success is proper cooperation from Grayling's residents—and Old Man Weather.

GRAYLING GIRLS PLAY AT CHERRY FESTIVAL

At the cherry festival given at Traverse City last week, one of the special features was the ceremonial in which the little prince and princess were crowned.

Preceding the crowning, a concert was given by Moseley Bennett Sawyer and an ensemble of twenty violins. Bugles announced the approach of the little royal pair and when they appeared the ensemble played "Country Gardens" by Percy Grainger, and Prof. Joseph Madden of the National High School Music Camp at Interlochen crowned the little tots as prince and princess of the cherry festival.

Four of the violinists playing in the ensemble were Grayling girls, Misses Beatrice Peterson, Betty Parsons, Rhoda Jean Miller and Billyann Clippert.

VOTERS' FAULT

A Detroit newspaper, during the past week, in commenting upon the failures of the 1937 legislature, declared that the voters of Michigan are to blame for sending so many "unfit and irresponsible men" to Lansing. "The final blame rests upon the electorate of Michigan," asserted the Detroit editor.

The only fault one may find with the utterances quoted and referred to above lies in the fact that the Detroit writer was too general in his indictments. What he should have said was that most of the blame may be laid directly at the feet of Detroit voters. With a governor elected from Detroit; with the lieutenant governor a Detroit product, and by the way a rather decent product; with the speaker of the house elected from the Detroit delegation; with thirteen of twenty house committees headed by Detroit representatives named as chairmen; with the power of the lieutenant governor and the speaker to name committee members and to wield strong whiphands by the process of referring important measures to committees of their selection; with the power of the Detroit and Wayne delegation to swap votes with Upper Peninsula Democrats in matters of patronage, appropriations and other forms of "log-rolling," it would appear that Michigan merely suffered from too much Detroit at Lansing during the past six months. The Detroit editor would do well to take to its own particular constituency and place the blame where it actually belongs—on the electorate of its own city, rather than on the state at large.

Readers may also be interested to learn just how much it means to have a Wayne delegation ready and willing to swap the interests of the state for personal and party favors and how easily it is to do so as long as the existing iniquitous and inequitable apportionment of representation is allowed to continue.

With one-fourth of the total vote cast in the senate coming from that part of the state containing only one-twentieth of the population, and paying less than seven per cent of the total revenues collected and with a third of the one hundred members of the house elected from the same area, Michigan is confronted with a real menace to its future stability and well-being. As long as Detroit continues to elect the caliber of men it has been sending to the legislature in recent years—seventeen house members and seven senators—Michigan as a state will suffer from the unholy alliances made with an over-represented region of the state, a region paying little in taxes but demanding much in the way of state aid. The amount of welfare and highway money alone expended in the region mentioned would startle the taxpayers of the state if realized in cold, hard totals.

Detroit, therefore, should clean its own stables before it complains of the remainder of the state. Detroit is paying in astonishing sums for the short-sightedness of its own electorate. It ought in all fairness to be thanking the rest of the state for saving as much as was saved from what otherwise would have been complete chaos.—V. J. Brown, Ingham County News, Mason.

IT IS WITH a feeling of gratification that this announcement is made. Truck users in this locality may rest assured that, henceforth, courteous, skilled service will be rendered and a stock of genuine GMC parts will be available promptly.

Also important to truck buyers is the fact that the new line of 1937 GMC's will be offered by this organization. The new trucks are exceptional values—for instance, in the 1/2-ton range there are two GMC's, one with 126-inch wheelbase, the other with 112-inch wheelbase—quality at prices lower than average. Both are available complete with standard bodies, either panel or pickup.

The advanced stream-styling of all 1937 GMC's sets a new standard. New Cab-Over-Engine Models include the lowest priced 1 1/2-ton of this type now offered. Refinements and improvements throughout the entire line assure greater economy and more efficient performance.

Children in Court

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

The price of a half fare bus ticket proved the means of landing a thirteen year old girl in the juvenile court today.

Twenty-four hours before her apprehension by juvenile authorities for stealing from a ten cent store, this child had heard her mother tell a bus driver that she was eleven years of age. While the mother saved a small amount of money by misrepresenting her daughter's actual age, this proved to be the most expensive ticket she ever purchased for an example of dishonesty was set which the child was not slow in adopting.

A grocer's son was taken into custody yesterday in a nearby city by an inspector of the Bureau of Weights and Measures. The young man frankly admitted that he conceived the idea of short weighing orders after having heard his father boast of a fraudulent practice by which a slight advantage was gained over a customer.

It was also discovered that the young man had deliberately failed over a period of six months of ringing up on the cash register all money taken in. The court was not impressed with the father's indignation and frankly informed him that he had no complaint to make so long as he himself cheated his customers in his son's presence.

GRAPHIC GOLF

By BEST BALL

A PUTTING SUGGESTION.

THERE is much to be said for that method of putting which will insure, insofar as possible, the golfer keeping his attention on actually hitting the ball. Generally speaking there are so many things for the player to worry about on the green, such as the proper speed, the path to take, etc., that the attention is diverted along numerous channels and as a result the putt is not a decisive one.

Naturally these are problems that must be contended with but the player would be better off if he quit worrying and stroked the ball accurately and smoothly. It is wise to learn a putting technique that will cast aside these annoying angles. One of the best methods to follow is described here and, besides proving an excellent method of putting, it will also prove a remedy for putting ills when other styles are proving troublesome. The process is as simple as it is efficient. Merely select the line the ball is to follow, then align the clubface square to this line. As the actual stroke is made, think of nothing but striking the ball accurately along the line you have picked out. The method sounds easy and is, but requires considerable concentration. The important factor is to keep the mind focused on actually stroking the ball and not on problems the ball may have to contend with later.

"Do you recognize your old friends since you made a hit in the movies?"

"Of course," answered Cactus Joe.

"Do they ask for your autograph?"

"Not often. But several have given me theirs with 'T. O. U.' written for various sums.

Had We Not Dreamed

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

HAD we not dreamed, we never would have known
The fortune that came to us was our own.
Who leans on luck and who depends on chance
May meet it and may pass it with a glance.
But we have dreamed, and they who dream create,
And they shall know, however long they wait,
This is their child, and, whether wealth or fame,
May take possession and may give it name.

Had we not dreamed, how poor the world would be,
Only the finished thing to ever see,
Only the finished thing to ever know,
Not plant the seed, and tend, and watch it grow.
But we have dreamed, and they who dream are blessed
With the whole pleasure of the thing possessed.
Some buy their houses, but are never thrilled,
Because, to love them, they must dream, then build.

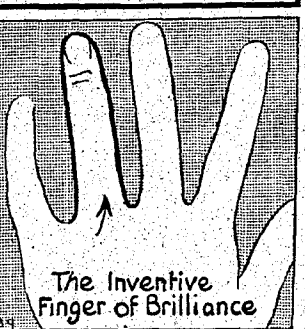

Had we not dreamed, but little would be done,
Naught is completed that is not begun.
It must be visioned long before its time—
Peaks seen from valleys, and men start to climb.
But we have dreamed, and they who dream will do;
Who has a dream will make the dream come true.
For nothing is but something once has seemed,
That never would have been, had we not dreamed.

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis

In the third finger you may look for indications of the urges through which the mind tends to find tangible expressions of the creative side of the inner self. Creative instincts vary with the conscious and subconscious make-up of the individual. Here is one of several variations shown by the formation of the third finger, which in the type described indicates that its possessor holds high promise of worth-while accomplishment along creative lines.

The Inventive Finger of Brilliance.
The predominant characteristics of this type are (1) squareness, (2) resilience under pressure, (3) pronounced inclination or tilt of the finger toward the fourth or little finger.

This type is sometimes found rather full in structure, but is never overfleshed. Its length is often marked and is usually even with that of the second finger or nearly so. The underside of the nail tip is often spatulate in shape, with pad-like cushions of flesh which sometimes extend beyond the sides of the nail, which is quite square and firmly set. With the hand extended wide, the finger is found to lie in fairly close proximity to the second finger.

You may quite safely conclude that the owner of a third finger of this type is of a decidedly inventive turn of mind and indefatigable in working out original ideas in a practical manner.

PETER AND WINSOME
BLUEBIRD GOSSIP

TO GOSSIP is to talk about other people and what they are doing or what they have done or what they are going to do. Peter Rabbit and Winsome Bluebird were gossiping in the dear old Brier Patch. Winsome sat in a little cherry tree and right under him sat Peter. Winsome had just arrived from way down South to spread the glad news that Mistress Spring was on her way and would soon reach the Green Meadows, the Green Forest, and the Smiling Pool. You see Winsome is the herald of Mistress Spring and keeps just a little way ahead of her. When the little meadow and forest people first see his beautiful blue coat, or hear his soft, sweet whistle, they know what Mistress Spring is surely on the way and not very far behind, and then great joy fills their hearts. First comes gentle Sister South Wind to prepare the way, then Winsome Bluebird, and after him beautiful Mistress Spring.

So He Sat and Rested, and While He Rested He Gossiped With Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit was brimful of curiosity, just as he always is. You see it was a long time since he had last seen Winsome Bluebird and all the other birds who had gone to the faraway south when the leaves began to drop in the fall, and, of course, he wanted to know all about his old friends and neighbors, how they were, what they had been doing and when they were coming back. And Winsome wanted to know all about how Peter and Reddy Fox, and all the other little people who hadn't gone to the beautiful south, had spent the winter. So there was a great deal to talk about. Yes, indeed, there was a great deal to talk about. Winsome felt that he ought to be flying about over the Green Meadows and the Green Forest, where other little people could see him and hear him and so know that he had arrived, but he had traveled a very, very great distance and he was tired, and so he sat and rested, and while he rested he gossiped with Peter Rabbit.

"Is O' Mistah Buzzard on his way here?" asked Peter eagerly. "Not yet," replied Winsome. "He won't start until after he is sure that Mistress Spring has got here." Peter looked a little disappointed for there is nothing that he enjoys more than to watch Mistah Buzzard sail around and around, way, way up in the blue, blue sky. He is rather fond of O' Mistah Buzzard, is Peter Rabbit, for big as he is, Mistah Buzzard never offers to hurt any of the very little people, not even little Danny Meadow Mouse. "Why isn't he starting right away?" he asked.

"Well, you see," replied Winsome, "Mistah Buzzard doesn't like the cold."

"But it isn't cold now!" interrupted Peter. "Why, this isn't cold at all. You ought to have been here when it really was cold—when the Smiling Pool and the Laughing Brook were covered with ice and the Green Meadows and the Green Forest were all white with snow, and poor Mrs. Grouse was a prisoner under the hard, icy crust. Then it was cold! Why, this isn't cold at all."

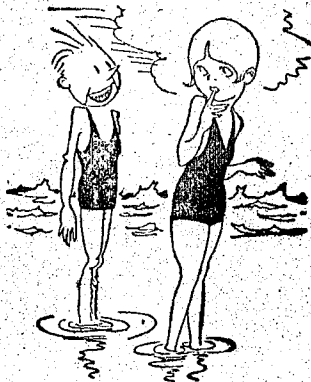

Winsome Bluebird ruffled up his feathers just a little. It was almost like a shiver. "This is cold enough for me!" said he. "Tell me about poor Mrs. Grouse, Peter. Did she get out?"

"You tell me about O' Mistah Buzzard first, and how he spends the winter, and then I'll tell you about poor Mrs. Grouse," replied Peter.

"All right," said Winsome. "There isn't a great deal to tell, but I'll do the best I can."

It is an interesting comparison to note the amount of money raised for school purposes 23 years ago with the amount spent last year. A budget of $8,000 was voted at the meeting for expenses for the year 1915. The amount spent for school purposes that year 1914 was $17,849.77. Out of this amount $1,480.00 was for bond retirement and interest. Last year the amount spent for school purposes was $48,411.33. Present day costs for school purposes is much greater than double what it was 23 years ago.

Pleasant; Mrs. Herman Luce, Flushing and Mrs. Straehly, Grayling. Also 34 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren survive.

An accident Saturday on the County road a short distance west of Lewiston, resulted in the instant death of Philip Foco of Linden, Mich., and inflicting injuries, which proved fatal to William Hull of Standish. Mr. Hull was brought to Mercy Hospital where he died within a few minutes after entering. It is reported that in an attempt to avoid hitting a cow that was crossing the road in front of them, they ran into a tree at the side of the road. The bodies were cared for by Sorenson Brothers until evening Saturday when they were taken to Standish.

RADIO STARS VISIT GRAYLING

Gloria and Richard Capuano, radio stars of Station WMBC, Detroit, were guests in Grayling last week at the home of Dewey Palmer.

Saturday evening they entertained the assemblage at the Governor's Ball, Miss Gloria cleverly doing a military tap and she sweetly sang "Something About a Soldier" dedicating it to General Pickert and the rest of the U. S. Army. Richard sang "Trust In Me" and also did a dance number very nicely, and both were well received by the gathering.

Miss Gloria is 10 years old and her brother Richard 8 years old and they travel with the "Hollywood Kiddies Revue" which has traversed Canada and the U. S. They are pupils of the Fred Rivard Dancing school and are rated among the best dancers in Detroit for their ages.

Ethiopia uses the Julian calendar, but the Egyptian names of the months are also used. The first of Thoth, New Year's day, falls on September 11 in our calendar. There is a deviation of twelve minutes and twenty-five seconds per year from the true solar time and one day is lost in each 131 years.

"Wall of Windows" in Bryce Canyon Park

Towering above the floor of Bryce Canyon National park is this huge knife-like formation, a slender ridge of eroded rock, pierced by large openings. To it has been given the name "Wall of Windows." Its fantastic minaret-like top, in varying shades of red, brown and ochre, stands brilliant in the afternoon sun in silhouette against the blue sky. This is a Union, Pacific railroad photograph.

Frederic Notes

Missionaries and their wives in interior parts of Africa, South America, etc., have a real problem in the education of their children. While they are small their busy parents have to guide them. Later they can be sent to the Westervelt Missionary Family, Batesburg, South Carolina, to do their high school work and often work in a Bible college nearby. Four girls and four boys from this school will visit Frederic on Friday, July 30. Their performance will begin at 7:30 sharp, lasting till about 9, at the M. P. Church. The obliging proprietor of the free movie has offered to delay his performance till the completion of the other. They form a good orchestra and also present vocal numbers. They speak jungle languages and show foreign curiosities and costumes. Mrs. Westervelt, a former missionary, accompanies them. Admission is free to all. A collection will be taken and it is hoped that those who are able will be liberal to this worthy cause.

Mr. Silas Terwilliger, a rice cooker (for Rice Krispies) at the Kellogg Company's plant in Battle Creek, will speak at the M. P. Church at 10:30 and 7:30 on Sunday, July 25. His family will sing. It is hoped that Mr. Terwilliger will give some information about the great plant where he works. He is an enthusiastic Sunday school worker.

Those who wish to be baptized will meet on the M. P. Church steps at 2 o'clock on Wednesday, July 28, or on Wednesday, August 11, using either date, as most convenient. Those only who are feeling well should present themselves. Wear washable clothes, not bathing suits. A place will be available to change clothes. Bring bath robe, waterproof coat or blanket for temporary protection after coming out of the water. A slip of paper should be handed in with all three names spelled correctly. Those who have been sprinkled will be baptized with the following formula: "If thou art not already baptized, I baptize thee," etc. This is open to all children and adults who believe with all their hearts in the atoning blood of Jesus Christ and seek the baptism of the Holy Spirit, purposing, by the aid of that same Spirit to follow in Christ's footsteps.

Frederic and Maple Forest boys working in Pontiac visit at their home over the week end. Mrs. William Leng has submitted to a tonsilectomy operation at Mercy Hospital and is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Albert Lewis and daughter Rose, plan to spend the rest of the summer at Big Bay in Marquette county, where Mr. Lewis is in business.

SQUEAKY STAIRS

THE treads and risers of a flight of stairs are supported in grooves cut into the side pieces. They are held in the grooves by slender wedges glued into place. With shrinkage, the wedges loosen, and there may be a squeak as they slide in the grooves when stepped on. In springing away from the riser, there is still more of a squeak when a weight on a tread forces it back into place.

When the under side of a staircase is open, as it may be when over a cellar stair, a squeak can be taken out by driving the wedges more tightly and securing them by nailing. Light finishing nails can be used, and they need not go all the way in.

When the under side is not exposed, a squeak can be taken out by preventing a tread from moving on top of its riser. The first step in this is to take off the strip of molding that is under the overhanging front edge. A wedge, such as the thin end of a shingle, is then driven in between the upper edge of a riser and the tread above. The tread will thus be prevented from moving. The wedge is cut off and the molding returned.

When a staircase is open on one side, it occasionally happens that the outside side-piece becomes warped and springs away from the treads and risers. It is sometimes possible to force the side piece back into place by wedging against an opposite wall. This, however, is a job that should be undertaken by a carpenter who is familiar with stair construction.

TO ENTER OLD-FOLK HOME

Mr. and Mrs. George Plant, residing east of the city near the county infirmary, having sold their home are leaving about August 1st for Detroit where they will enter an old-people's home. Mr. Plant said that he had been a member of the L. O. O. F. for about 18 years and had hoped to be able to get into Moosehaven, a home for aged members of the order, but was unable to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Plant have sufficient means to pay for their care and felt that they wished to be in some home where they no longer had to live by themselves during their advanced age and be able to have such care as was needed. Mr. Plant is 67 years of age. They have resided in Grayling for several years and are a fine old couple.

We are sorry to have such citizens leave Grayling but are glad they are able to secure the comfort they are entitled to in their declining years.

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

THERE'S enough playfulness going on among adults these days to show them up. Have you run into parties where tin horns and toy guns are used for entertainment? If you have, you know that they usually end up in a nursery brawl, with women whining at their husbands.

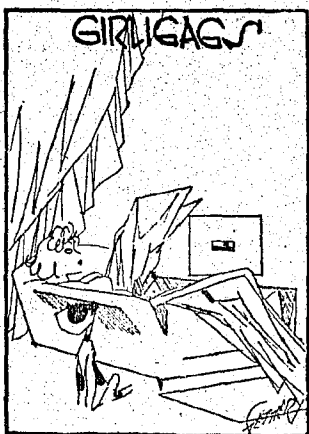

Some Grown-Ups Never Get Over Wanting the Other Fellow's Toy.

And men growling at their girl friends because they have had more turns than any one else.

Maybe it's instinct. The minute some one blows a toy horn or bounces a ball once, you want to jump up and say, "Let me try it." But dear, dear! You should have learned better at the age of ten. You should have learned that you have to give the other fellow a long turn if you want a long turn yourself.

Maybe you don't go in for childish sports. But if you do, see to it that you know the childish code that goes with them.

The few cool days we had certainly brought an avalanche of visitors to Whippoorwill. Mr. Frank Bromley and his wife entertained royally; their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Graham of Bloomfield Hills and Dr. and Mrs. Irwin Neff of Birmingham. Mrs. Graham was formerly Mrs. Timothy Donovan and has resided at "Valhalla", her beautiful country home near Bloomfield Hills, Mich., since Mr. Donovan's death. Recently she married Mr. Graham, who is in the bond business in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Graham have often visited Whippoorwill, but not until a short time ago did I hear that they were interested in a piece of property adjoining Whippoorwill. I believe this is where the fish nursery was located and if they do locate on this particular piece of river frontage they will surely have a lovely spot. I did learn this afternoon that Mrs. Graham was talking with two very fine carpenters, Mr. Campbell who built the Bailey cabin, and Lloyd Jennings who did all of that wonderfully artistic finishing job on the Wickes cabin. Nothing is definitely decided as yet, but I do know that Mrs. Graham was more than delighted with the work on Pat and Ned Wickes' cabin when she viewed it last Saturday.

The above all sounds as tho Mrs. Graham has somewhat tired of her globe trotting! Perhaps the lure of this lovely country will get in her blood too, and we will have another real "show place" to rave about in the vicinity of Shaw's Park. I understand this crowd is enthusiastic about the Grayling golf course, so perhaps you may meet them there.

Dr. and Mrs. Neff have also been frequent visitors at Whippoorwill. Mrs. Neff is Mrs. Graham's sister and these ladies were Bess and Bertha Bigelow, daughters of Captain Bigelow, of Birmingham, before their marriages. Dr. Neff was for a long time associated with Dr. Christian at the Michigan State Insane asylum at Pontiac. He now has offices both in Pontiac and Detroit. The Neffs have two sons, Mortimer and Irwin, Jr. The boys often visit Whippoorwill as guests of Walter Bromley, when he entertains his own young crowd.

I told you last week of the possible building which might take place at Whippoorwill. Mr. Bromley has not decided definitely on the construction of his new cabin, but he told me last evening (after he had strolled over and around the wreckage caused by the recent windstorm) that he thought he better start building a "castle." So we will watch with interest, as there are some two hundred trees

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

CLEANING A BOILER

LAST winter a neighbor of mine began to complain about his coal consumption. He said that he was burning more coal than he had the previous winter. As the months went on he growled more and more about the quantity of coal that he was shoveling. I finally went to his house for a look at his steam boiler. My first move was to open one of the clean-out doors above the firing door. As I suspected, I found the interior so clogged with dust that I wondered that the fire was able even to smolder.

I asked him why he had not kept the interior of his boiler cleaned out, and he said he had no idea it was necessary; that no one had ever told him anything about it. I found a flue-cleaning brush in a corner of the cellar, and poked it in to show him that what seemed to be a solid wall of dust was actually a passage. With a few explanations of what to do, I left him to give the boiler a thorough cleaning. He called me up the next morning to say that his fire was burning more briskly than it had been all winter, and that steam had come up in what was an incredibly short time.

His was an extreme case, for to all appearances the boiler had been running for years with no cleaning out of the dust that had collected within it. The cleaning of the inside of a boiler is of much more importance than home owners in general believe it to be. In burning, coal develops a fine dust that settles in the upper part of the boiler.

When the inside surfaces of a boiler are clean, the metal absorbs a maximum amount of heat from the gases and flames that pass over them. There is little waste of heat up the chimney. When dust is allowed to collect on the inside passages, it has the effect of insulation. Less of the available heat is absorbed by the metal, and the waste of heat up the chimney becomes greater. Consumption of fuel naturally goes up.

down on the lowlands. He seems to think it advisable to build his cabin of them, altho he has seriously considered the Air-Lock logs also. It looks, however, as tho the new place may be constructed of logs, and if so it will be an attractive addition, and also conform with the general old log cabin effect carried out at Whippoorwill.

Mr. Bromley inquired almost on his arrival, about the huckleberries, so I imagine there was huckleberry this, and huckleberry that, added to the delicious menus already prepared by Whippoorwill's regular cook, and Mrs. Graham's Japanese "Toby," whom they never fail to bring with them. I have heard about the dishes he prepares, and it sometimes makes me wish we could all have a "Toby."

Down by the river Donald and Katherine Sanderson are also entertaining. They have their young daughter Patsy with them and she is a big help when it comes to entertaining. Cars are going and coming, in and out of Whippoorwill, sounds of gay laughter and joyous voices carry beyond meadows and fish ponds, breaking the quiet air that hangs over the lovely old place when its owners are away. The beautiful acres surrounding Whippoorwill seem alive and happy; even the birds take on a different note when these gay crowds arrive; they in turn seem to get such wholesome fun out of the place, old clothes, shorts, slacks, and sweaters are their garb, and they are out of door every possible moment. In fact I know of no place along the river where folks get any more enjoyment out of just "nature" and our wonderful north woods than they do at Whippoorwill!

Next week we will have to leave the "New" and get back to some of the "old" friends down stream, and try to find out what they are up to. Then, too, there is a lovely place on the North Branch of which I am very anxious to tell you.

Device Finds Sound Directions

Hans Falk, representative of the C. P. Goerz company of Vienna, builders of the Goerz sound direction finder, shown operating the instrument in New York. The device worked well during a westward crossing of the S. S. Hamburg, and will be used and demonstrated on other ships. The two parabolas shown pick up sound "reflections" and are focused on the ears of the listener. The instrument is then swung around until the sound comes in evenly through both ears. The indicator's direction gives the operator the exact location of the ship sounding its foghorn. But it can't do anything about finding lost collar buttons.
